

Publications available from Wisconsin Healthy & Ready to Work

Ordering Information <http://waisman.wisc.edu/hrtw/publications.html>

Transition to Adult Health Care: A Training Guide in Two Parts

This training guide is intended to serve as a framework for anyone interested in helping young people with special health care needs and their parents prepare for the transition to adult health care. The Maternal and Child Health Bureau of the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services defines a child with special health care needs.

Cost is $15.00

Stories of Transition to the Adult World

The road to adulthood is rarely smooth, even for young people who have had the best possible preparation. When a young person has a significant disability, that journey can be even more challenging. Work experiences can be harder to come by and require more support. A young person may have to learn how to manage medications and talk to doctors along with learning how to cook and balance a checkbook. Inadequate transportation and long county waiting lists further complicate the ability to live and work in the community.

No Cost

Caleb's Story

An 11-minute video developed in partnership with Wisconsin Council on Developmental Disabilities and Wisconsin Coalition for Advocacy, highlighting the work and home experiences of a young man with very involved health, cognitive and physical disabilities. It includes footage of him at work in the community, shopping and traveling in the community, and at the home he purchased.

Discussion questions included. DVD and VHS format: DVD $20, VHS, $15. DVD also includes Legal Decision-Making video and handout at no additional charge.

Safety Awareness for Empowerment

An eight-module curriculum to teach self-care and community safety skills to youth, particularly those with cognitive disabilities. Includes handouts, graphics, a board game. Topics include staying home alone, safe relationships, avoiding victimization, sexuality, first aid and self defense.

319-page training guide

Cost is $125.

Whose Life Is It Anyway?

How One Teenager, Her Parents, and Her Teacher View the Transition Process for a Young Person with Disabilities

This publication is a unique exploration of the emotions and relationships between three key transition partners: Becky, the youth; her mother and her teacher. It includes talking points for group discussion about relationship building and best practice in adolescent transition. Outcomes include helping all partners raise expectations about what youth with special health care needs can achieve, how to meaningfully involve youth in the process and ultimately, how to better understand each participant's perspectives. Co-authored by national trainer Janice Fialka; Martha Mock, University of Rochester; and Jennifer Wagner Neugart of the Waisman Center.

Cost is $10.00

